

Membership

The IPC membership consists of standing (voting) and advisory (non-voting) members. The committee is comprised of full-time faculty representatives invited from each college/ program/ department.

Advisory members may include the Deans/Directors of the academic programs, senior academic administrators, the Registrar's office, and others representing areas of expertise as needed by the committee.

Standing members of the IPC are appointed by the Executive Committee of the Faculty Senate. A Chair and Vice Chair are elected by and from the committee members. The Chair and Vice Chair serve in these positions for the duration of the Academic Year or until such time as the majority elects another faculty member for either role. Members continue to serve with the ongoing support of the Faculty Senate.

The Chair will supervise the operations of the IPC; the Vice Chair will assist with duties, chair meetings when the Chair is unavailable, and report to the Chair.
